CEASE-FIRE TALKS DUE NEXT WEEK

Billion-Dollar-A-Week Defense Plan Needed Despite Peace Chance, Claim

Stabilizer Fears Guard May Drop

Huge Tax Boost Labeled 'Must'

WASHINGTON, July 2—Stabilization Chief Eric Johnston told Congress today that taxes must be raised to finance a "billion-dollar-a-week" defense program regardless of what happens in Korea.

Johnston warned that America is faced by a foe "patiently waiting for us to drop our guard" and he urged against the temptation to trim tax legislation because of peace signs in the Far East.

The boss of the nation's anti-inflation program told the Senate Banking Committee that a $10 billion tax boost is needed to carry the fiscal budget on a pay-as-we-go basis.

He told the senators, who are working over the House-passed $7.2 billion tax boost, that he realized immediate enactment of increases totalling $10 billion is "impossible." But he also pointed out that the House bill, which would not become effective until Sept. 1, would provide only about $4.5 billion in fiscal 1952, less than half of the contemplated increase in spending.

UNDERSCORING the need for pay-as-we-go financing, Johnston said that for every cent the tax increases fall below $10 billion, "you must cut corresponding amounts out of the appropriations bills," and asked: "Will it be done? Can it be done? Is it safe to do it?"

The stabilization boss told the committee:

"I assume that even a cease-fire in Korea, should it come about, would not be regarded by the Congress as a signal for the emergence in the very near future of an altogether new world order secure against Communist aggression."

"I assume that the Congress agrees the Communists are not yet ready to turn from a policy of imperialism and world conquest to a new policy of trust, understanding, tolerance and peace."

Top Senate tax writers said, meanwhile, that they did not expect the hoped-for peace in Korea to lessen the need for higher taxes, but indicated they may junk House plans for a flat 12.5 percent hike in levies on individuals.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman George (D) Ga. expressed opposition to the across-the-board personal tax boost contained in the House bill, saying:

"With taxes at their present level, it is not realistic to talk about simply applying percentage-wise increases."

Firecrackers Cost Man $25

An 18-year-old Circleville Route 1 man was fined $25 and costs Sunday in the court of Mayor Thurman I. Miller for discharging fireworks in the city.

He is Gene Robinson, arrested on North Scioto street by Officer Rod List and State Highway Patrolman Clyde Wells.

The lawman said Robinson tossed a firecracker from the auto in which he was riding. The firecracker exploded in front of the state highway patrol car driven by Wells.

Doctors in Bellevue hospital traced the pain to his colon and found a bottle containing 26 heroin capsules lodged there.

The 27-year-old Chinese grocery clerk was held in $15,000 bail yesterday on a charge of possessing narcotics.

Iran Offers To Guarantee West Permanent Oil Flow

TEHRAN, July 2—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran offered today to write into the laws of the nationalized Iranian Oil Co. a clause guaranteeing "continued and permanent" flow of Persian oil to the Western World.

The premier thus put forward a new plan for settlement of the dispute between Iran and the British government over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.'s billion-dollar holdings in Iran.

At the same time, however, Mossadegh—leader of Iran's fanatical national front movement—ruled out any compromise with respect to operation of the AIOC fields and refineries in the vicinity of Abadan.

Mossadegh insisted that the AIOC as a working industry "must quit Iran."

"Furthermore," he said, "the British government must recognize unconditionally the nationalization of Iran's oil industry."

THE IRANIAN premier expressed willingness to have U.S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady act as mediator in an attempt to work out some formula for the signing of oil receipts by AIOC tankers.

Captains of scores of vessels piled up along the jetties of Abadan and at the Shatt-el-Arab delta bar have refused to acknowledge such receipts. They stand by their contention that they are employed only by the AIOC and do not recognize the nationalized oil company.

8 Persons Injured, Cow Killed In Series Of Weekend Mishaps

Eight persons were injured and one cow was killed in a series of eight traffic accidents in Pickaway County last weekend.

Although none of the local accidents was fatal, death came to Ohio early for the July 4 holiday and claimed the lives of at least 16 persons in a variety of weekend accidents.

Twelve persons were killed in traffic mishaps, two by drowning, one at a motorcycle event and a 15-year-old boy was injured fatally when thrown from his bicycle.

UN Gives Gen. Ridgway Free Hand In Negotiation

FLUSHING MEADOW, July 2—The United Nations gave Gen. Matthew Ridgway a free hand today to negotiate an armistice in Korea. It indicated it will back him up to the fullest extent in any decision he makes if the Communists reject his cease-fire terms.

UN Secretary General Trygve Lie is convinced that despite the difficulties and perhaps alarm likely to arise over the next two weeks, the Communists will go through with the cease-fire agreement.

At UN, there are grounds for believing the Russians have ordered Peiping and the North Koreans to call off the war.

Important sources disclosed that Ridgway has been informed to that effect. In addition, the world organization has offered to place a team of neutral military observers at his disposal for supervising the armistice and watching against possible new buildups by the Communists.

The UN favors this "watch dog" surveillance because of its successful operation in the Balkans, Palestine and Indonesia during those shooting wars.

EXPECTATIONS ARE that the Communists most likely will demand to have their own observers—probably Russian officers—in the neutral zone to keep an eye on Allied activities.

The military observers team in mind at present by UN would include officers from Sweden, India and Israel. The UN General Assembly, which is still in session, will have to give its consent but it is a foregone conclusion that such a move would encounter little difficulty once the 60-nation body is convoked to give general approval to the Korean armistice.

Lie is scheduling a series of talks this week with Western representatives and will keep in close contact with the Russians.

Lie has little doubt that the war in Korea is coming to an end, but he wants to be in a position to act with speed if cease-fire negotiations bog down, or even if there are signs that Peiping might balk at going through with cease-fire talks.

A high UN spokesman insisted today that the broad principles of a unified and independent Korea remain unchanged, despite the probability that an adjustment will have to be made under the armistice.

IN THE OPINION of this source, the conditions being laid down for an armistice by Ridgway closely parallel those drafted by the UN cease-fire committee Dec. 15, 1950.

These conditions provided for: 1. A demilitarized zone about 20 miles deep, with the southern limit running from just south of the parallel on the west to about 15 miles north of it on the east.

2. An immediate halt by both sides of shipments into the Korean theater of troops, war supplies and anything to help build up an advantageous position for renewed attack.

3. The policing of the demilitarized zone by a UN neutral team.

4. An exchange of prisoners of war.

Business Houses Plan Closing For Independence Day

Circleville business and industry will come to a virtual standstill Wednesday in observance of Independence Day.

Retail stores in the city will be closed all day, while most industry in the city will release its workers to enjoy the day.

The Circleville Herald will not be published Wednesday as its employees join the rest of the community in the July 4 observance.

There will be no sale of livestock this week at the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association stockyards.

All public offices for both city and county government will be closed for the day, along with Circleville Postoffice and Circleville Library.

Amusement will be the keynote of the day in Pickaway County.

ALL CIRCLEVILLE entertainments are expected to be in full operation for the day, while a special observance is planned all day in Ashville.

And persons who enjoy fireworks displays will have two separate performances for the evening of the fourth.

Ashville will climax its annual Independence Day festivities with fireworks Wednesday night while Starlight Cruise-In theater just outside Circleville also offer fireworks.

Parley Suggested Along Parallel

TOKYO, July 3—(Tuesday)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway worked until late Monday night on an expected favorable reply to a Communist counter-proposal that cease-fire talks be held on Korea's famed 38th Parallel between July 10 and 15.

A draft of the United Nations supreme commander's answer apparently already had been completed and was being circulated among America's 15 UN allies in the Korean war before its broadcast—possibly today—to the Red high command.

A source close to Ridgway hinted that the general's statement may be broadcast at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning (5 p. m. Monday EST) if consultations with Washington and technical details are completed by that hour.

All indications pointed to acceptance of the Chinese-North Korean proposal that the truce negotiations be conducted "in the area of" war-torn Kaesong and be deferred until next week. Centuries-old Kaesong, the capital of Korea, is a South Korean city on the low Parallel, but has been a neutral no man's land.

4 Of 11 Top Fail To Surrender

NEW YORK, July 2—Seven of the 11 convicted members of the Communist Party high command in America surrendered to New York federal court today and were ordered to prison to serve their terms.

A bench warrant for the immediate arrest of the four others was issued when they failed to come in.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan signed the order committing the Communists to jail at a stormy session in his crowded courtroom during which three of the defendants made personal appeals for the abolishment of sentence.

The Communists were convicted in October of 1949 of conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the U.S. government by force or violence. They have been free under a total of $260,000 bail, but recently lost their last appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

THOSE WHO surrendered this morning and were ordered to prison were led by General E. J. Connelley, Chairman Eugene Dennis, and the missing four, whose immediate objects of hunt, were: Party Organizers.

Peace Seen Hiking Draft

Fewer Volunteers May Be Result

WASHINGTON, July 2—Selective Service and defense officials saw a possibility today that a cease-fire in Korea could bring a sharp increase in draft calls.

Although maintaining officially that an end to the Korean fighting would not affect draft plans, military manpower experts privately admitted they weren't so sure.

They pointed out that the conflict's end might severely reduce the number of volunteers applying for admission to the Army, Navy, Airforce and Marine Corps.

And, they continued, it might cause thousands of reservists who volunteered for active military duty to ask to return to civilian life.

A sharp reduction in volunteers could double overnight the present draft of 20,000 to 25,000 men a month.

THE AIRFORCE and Navy are just midway in the expansion which will give them about a million men each.

So far, they have been able to make their monthly quotas entirely with volunteers. But if volunteering should drop to pre-Korea levels, these services would have to draft 10,000 to 40,000 a month to maintain present quotas.

On the other hand, the officials declare, the draft pictures could be upset in the opposite direction if a Korean settlement would cause Congress to reduce huge military appropriation requests.

Present plans call for a continuation of the military buildup toward 3.5 million men, whether the fighting ends or not.

Purring Motor Also Meows

NEW YORK, July 2—When Carmelo Hernandez bought his car, the salesman told him the motor purred. But he never expected it to meow.

Hernandez, about to start on a trip yesterday, stepped on the starter and heard an angry meow. He raised the hood and began investigating. Six hours later two mechanics had dismantled a good part of the motor and removed a cat who had gotten in between the splash pan and the bottom of the motor block.

Asked about the possibility of resumption of negotiations with the AIOC itself, Mossadegh said that this could be "only for liquidation of the former company and not for them to continue to operate our oil industry."

"IN SHORT," our position is this," the premier said:

"One—We want the British government to recognize unconditionally our nationalization of Iranian oil."

2. After the cease-fire, the commanders will negotiate an armistice under which the opposing armies will be withdrawn to definite set lines, perhaps ten or 20 miles apart.

3. And then, last of all, will come the involved business of seeking a permanent peace in Korea. This will be conducted with Red China and North Korea by the 16 UN members who are now fighting on the peninsula.

It is believed that the opposing military commanders will have little difficulty in working out the cease-fire and armistice.

Soviet UN Delegate Jacob Malik hinted as much when he made his cease-fire proposal a week ago Saturday.

Malik proposed that the warring nations in Korea work out both a cease-fire and an armistice in the field. He indicated that the permanent peace plan would have to be negotiated at higher levels than that field command.

Officials minimized the importance of the prolonged delay suggested by Peiping and the North Koreans. They said that a great deal of negotiation will probably take place before the meeting is held.

THEY ATTRIBUTED the proposed delay to three possible factors. These are:

A. Possible difficulties in communication to permit the top Communist military leaders to get to the meeting place.

B. The possible need of consulting with Moscow on the next move.

C. Strengthening their forces along the battle line to increase their bargaining power.

The last matter was not regarded as particularly important since the UN can also redevelop and strengthen their forces as the war goes on.

Communist acceptance of holding peace talks at night. It was reported that the UN had agreed to a midday cease-fire.

Peiping, however, has refused to accept a midday cease-fire.

Wells said none of the dogs in the two station wagons was injured.

A 26-YEAR-OLD Lancaster man was injured at about 9 p. m. Saturday when he lost control of his auto on Walnut Creek Pike about three miles north of town.

Deputy James Diltz said William Daum Jr. of Lancaster was travelling south on the highway and lost control of his car when passing through a bridge near the Nelson Bell farm.

Diltz said the Daum auto swerved to the right out of control and struck Bell's farm fence, ripping out 20 steel poles and tearing down about 255 feet of fencing.

Daum suffered abrasions of the back, shock and minor concussion. The Lancaster man later was fined $25 and costs in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for reckless operation.

Minor injuries were suffered by two Columbus persons at about 11:45 p. m. Sunday on Route 104 just north of the Route 762 intersection.

State Highway Patrolman W. D. Braucher said the Columbus driver fell asleep and lost control of his car, which swerved into a ditch and turned over.

Braucher also investigated an accident on Route 104 at the Pickaway-Franklin county line at about 9:15 p. m. Sunday in which a cow was killed.

Braucher said an auto operated by Robert Young, 25, of Amanda, struck a cow owned by Jake Borror and killed it. Young told the patrolman the animal walked into the path of his auto.

Braucher said the driver was not injured although the front end of his auto was demolished.

Wallet Found, Returned Here

A wallet containing $79 in currency plus valuable papers was found in a roadside park near Amanda Sunday and turned over to State Highway Patrolman Clyde Wells in Circleville.

Wells said the wallet was found in a restroom in the state park just west of Amanda by William Riehl of Zanesville Route 4.

About 40 minutes after the wallet was turned in, however, the unidentified owner appeared in Circleville police station to ask whether anyone had found the billfold. He identified the wallet, said he would reward the Zanesville man.

where they are and suspend aggressive action.

2. After the cease-fire, the commanders will negotiate an armistice under which the opposing armies will be withdrawn to definite set lines, perhaps ten or 20 miles apart.

3. And then, last of all, will come the involved business of seeking a permanent peace in Korea. This will be conducted with Red China and North Korea by the 16 UN members who are now fighting on the peninsula.

It is believed that the opposing military commanders will have little difficulty in working out the cease-fire and armistice.

Soviet UN Delegate Jacob Malik hinted as much when he made his cease-fire proposal a week ago Saturday.

Malik proposed that the warring nations in Korea work out both a cease-fire and an armistice in the field. He indicated that the permanent peace plan would have to be negotiated at higher levels than that field command.

Officials minimized the importance of the prolonged delay suggested by Peiping and the North Koreans. They said that a great deal of negotiation will probably take place before the meeting is held.

THEY ATTRIBUTED the proposed delay to three possible factors. These are:

A. Possible difficulties in communication to permit the top Communist military leaders to get to the meeting place.

B. The possible need of consulting with Moscow on the next move.

C. Strengthening their forces along the battle line to increase their bargaining power.

The last matter was not regarded as particularly important since the UN can also re-deploy and strengthen their forces as the need arises.

Communist acceptance of the UN proposal is being held in doubt by the night. It is believed that the UN will not accept the proposal.

Ashville Alumni Banquet Brings 500 Attendance

Nearly 500 alumni and guests attended the annual Ashville High School Alumni banquet held Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

A steak dinner, topped off with homemade cake and ice cream, was served by Ashville Pythian Sisters with some 40 Ashville High under-graduates serving as waiters and waitresses.

Members of the 1951 Ashville high school graduating class were guests of honor and were seated at a special table while alumni of former years were seated at tables bearing the year of their graduation.

Among well-known alumni attending were Montrose "Mike" Hagely, football coach at North high school, Columbus; Harold McCord, superintendent of Worthington schools; Charles Ebert, California merchant; S. J. Bowers, assistant tax commissioner of Ohio; Dr. C. W. Cromley, local veterinarian; Joseph Higley, scientific instrument mechanic of Chicago; Ralph Lane, instructor of Washington D. C.; John P. Courtright, vice-president of Marion Steam Shovel Co.; M. Herbert Hoover, Ohio politician; and Miss Helen Bowers of the Capital university teaching staff.

For those with an interest in athletics, nostalgic memories were aroused at the sight of many former stellar athletes, some of whom were state record holders in track in years gone by, members of county district and regional championship basketball teams, members of championship football teams, and all-round athletic stars. Among these athletic "greats" of former years were Jim Scoles, Paul McGlone, Charles Ebert, Elmer Mallory, G. B. Stoker, Curtis Teegardin, "Mike" Hagely, Sheldon Canter, Kenneth Sampson, Paul Crom-

NAGGING ACHES AND PAINS WERE RELIEVED BY HADACOL

When Nagging Aches and Pains Are Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, HADACOL Gives Welcome Relief

Driving a truck is no holiday. It's hard work and a man has got to be on his toes all the time and feeling well to keep going. Mr. Edward Jakubowski, 1622 N. 75th Court, Elmwood Park, Ill., has been driving a truck since 1919 and has always enjoyed his job. But Mr. Jakubowski must not have felt quite up to the strain of his job for a time because he did not feel well. He had annoying aches and pains and he felt rundown. One of his fellow drivers told him about how HADACOL was helping people suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL seemed to be just what he needed. Here is what Mr. Jakubowski says:

MR. JAKUBOWSKI SAYS

"For awhile I was bothered with aches and pains and felt rundown. One day one of the other drivers suggested I start taking HADACOL. So I bought a bottle and started taking it. It has relieved my pains; they've almost completely disappeared, and no longer prevent me from sleeping well. This was three years ago when I took my first bottle of HADACOL. I still continue to take it and have recommended it to many of my friends. I truly think HADACOL is a good product."

Many thousands take HADACOL regularly because HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL'S wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

Edward Jakubowski

Ashville Alumni Banquet Brings 500 Attendance

Nearly 500 alumni and guests attended the annual Ashville High School Alumni banquet held Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

A steak dinner, topped off with homemade cake and ice cream, was served by Ashville Pythian Sisters with some 40 Ashville High under-graduates serving as waiters and waitresses.

Members of the 1951 Ashville high school graduating class were guests of honor and were seated at a special table while alumni of former years were seated at tables bearing the year of their graduation.

Among well-known alumni attending were Montrose "Mike" Hagley, football coach at North high school, Columbus; Harold McCord, superintendent of Worthington schools; Charles Ebert, California merchant; S. J. Bowers, assistant tax commissioner of Ohio; Dr. C. W. Cromley, local veterinarian; Joseph Higley, scientific instrument mechanic of Chicago; Ralph Lane, instructor of Washington D. C.; John P. Courtright, vice-president of Marion Steam Shovel Co.; M. Herbert Hoover, Ohio politician; and Miss Helen Bowers of the Capital university teaching staff.

For those with an interest in athletics, nostalgic memories were aroused at the sight of many former stellar athletes, some of whom were state record holders in track in years gone by, members of county district and regional championship basketball teams, members of championship football teams, and all-round athletic stars. Among these athletic "greats" of former years were Jim Scoles, Paul M-Glone, Charles Ebert, Elmer Mallory, G. B. Stoker, Curtis Teegardin, "Mike" Hagley, Sheldon Canter, Kenneth Sampson, Paul Crom-

NAGGING ACHES AND PAINS WERE RELIEVED BY HADACOL

When Nagging Aches and Pains Are Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, HADACOL Gives Welcome Relief

Driving a truck is no holiday. It's hard work and a man has got to be on his toes all the time and feeling well to keep going. Mr. Edward Jakubowski, 1622 N. 75th Court, Elmwood Park, Ill., has been driving a truck since 1919 and has always enjoyed his job. But Mr. Jakubowski must not have felt quite up to the strain of his job for a time because he did not feel well. He had annoying aches and pains and he felt rundown. One of his fellow drivers told him about how HADACOL was helping people suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL seemed to be just what he needed. Here is what Mr. Jakubowski says:

MR. JAKUBOWSKI SAYS

"For awhile I was bothered with aches and pains and felt rundown. One day one of the other drivers suggested I start taking HADACOL. So I bought a bottle and started taking it. It has relieved my pains; they've almost completely disappeared, and no longer prevent me from sleeping well. This was three years ago when I took my first bottle of HADACOL. I still continue to take it and have recommended it to many of my friends. I truly think HADACOL is a good product."

Many thousands take HADACOL regularly because HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL'S wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

HADACOL IS SO EFFECTIVE

Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body.

You may have tried other Vitamin preparations or other Vitamin and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. If you need Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron try a bottle of HADACOL today. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee. You take no chances.

So be fair to yourself. Don't go through life suffering from your nagging aches and pains when caused by lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store.

IT WAS DIFFERENT THEN

SOME years ago, in a delightful era of nostalgic memory, the Fourth of July opened and closed with a bang. And what a bang it was, with all young America signing its own Declaration of Independence with a rousing, exuberant outburst of noisemaking.

The explosion of firecrackers and cannon crackers started with the first flush of dawn, after a trial run the night before, and continued throughout the day and into the night when the celebrators refueled their enthusiasm with flare bombs and roman candles. Waving flags and parades helped kindle the demonstration of patriotism.

The Fourth, in those days, also was a great occasion for family picnics and reunions in shaded groves along the roadside. Bring baskets well filled, was the supplication, and the women folk answered by feverishly striving to outdo each other in laying the best spread of home-cooked delicacies.

Some arrived in wagons or surreys, a few in the sputtering, rickety automobiles of early make. Roughly-hewn tables and benches were used, or tableclothes were stretched on the ground, for the feasting.

Then came the games and contests for all ages, followed by the program with a preacher or lawyer making a speech and a pep band playing patriotic selections.

One man hate arguments or fear particularly libel and slander before they duck the issue by blacklisting. Their attitude is: "Drop the guy. It is an easy one. On the other hand, if they themselves so obnoxious, then the only way to deal with them is to blacklist them."

"Questionnaire" is to my mind a sound and fair device in particular in these days when people are so prone to be a little about each other. The communist will not answer to the having no moral code. On the other hand, it is all sides to check not only the loyalty, but what one is loyal to.

During the war we hopped from island to island in the Pacific. Now we are hopping from peak to price peak in this country.

We were promised freedom from the war, but we are entering a period in which we will want everything and can't have it.

My friend, with the pretty Miss Piper Laurie at my other elbow, listened attentively. Miss Laurie, born Rosetta Jacobs in Detroit, is a character in her own right, having achieved some publicity two or three years ago by eating marigold petals—but this was the Tony, who's starring now with her in The Prince Who Was.

"He was an actor in Budapest," he said, "and when we came to the United States he was killed for the stage, so he became a tailor. We were poor. I learned how to fight with fists, feet and anything else I could get my hands on."

He laughed frequently; never could see the sense of studying. I was in the grocery and department stores. I was on my way to becoming a real no-good, until they sent me to the Memorial Settlement House, where a man named Tony was wise to the ways of boys of the streets and on the right road, talked some sense into him.

"Honesty and self-respect," Tony said. "After that, I was being straightened out. When I was 12, I was a fair Miss Leigh up in Connecticut and when I got out."

FOR ACTING after he was injured in the legs by a chain while loading torpedoes aboard the submarine Golden Boy, the Tony that brought Bill Holden to movie stardom starred Frances Farmer in it? when a movie was made at Greenwich Village's Cherry Lane theater. Now they've got big things planned for him. After three years on the gold coast, he went into the army and got a big bang out of seeing them fair Miss Leigh up in Connecticut and when I got out."

He is Bruckner boulevard. I got an aunt when I went to Hollywood, she was the last of her porch in a rocking chair. "Don't move," he said to her.

He was in a procession at her house and looked up—sitting on the porch in a rocking chair. "Identical—but Tony has a very devoted wife," he said to her.

Draw your own conclusions.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

I saw this advertisement in Radio Daily-
Television Daily, a trade paper:

"1. The Radio Writers Guild, a democratic organization open to all who write or wish to write for radio and television, has this primary function under its constitution —to assure each of its members equality of professional opportunity.

"2. Today, Radio Writers Guild members are being deprived of the chance to earn a living in their chosen field by such discriminatory devices as the blacklist, the loyalty questionnaire and the morals clause, each of which in its insidious way strikes at the basic economic welfare of our guild and of its members.

"3. Deploring such practices, which are notoriously anti-union, the Radio Writers
Guild promises active resistance to them.
In the future as in the past we will not judge our members, we will defend them."

The issue raised here is the same as academic freedom, which has come to be accepted as something sacrosanct in our colleges and universities. The assumption is that if a man gets a certain type of job, he must be assured of the right to do or say anything that comes into his head, wise or foolish, moral or immoral, patriotic or treasonable.

The Radio Writers Guild cannot guarantee equality of opportunity for writers because it cannot guarantee equality of ability, intelligence, imagination or wisdom. It cannot hope to establish the same opportunities, equal or identical, nor even comparable opportunities for a Somerset
Maugham and a Joe Blow.

Equality of opportunity is one of the most telling assets of the life of the individual American. But that does not mean that because a man desires to write, his judgment is final as to the worth of his writings.

The equality of opportunity lies in the opportunity to study, to work, to form the pattern of one's own life with attendant risks and responsibilities. It does not guarantee the acceptance of the output.

The guild objects to the blacklist. So do
I. It is an indecent and unAmerican device because every man is entitled to know why he is rejected, particularly if he has had an established career.

Some men hate arguments or fear particularly libel and slander before they duck the issue by blacklisting. Their attitude is: "Drop the guy. It is an easy one. On the other hand, if they themselves so obnoxious, then the only way to deal with them is to blacklist them."

"Questionnaire" is to my mind a sound and fair device in particular in these days when people are so prone to be a little about each other. The communist will not answer to the having no moral code. On the other hand, it is all sides to check not only the loyalty, but what one is loyal to.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
TWO WEEKS later Millicent called while Julie was at the studio. "I'll pick you up at four, if you can get away, and then we'll have supper at our apartment later with the boys. Would you like that?"

"Oh, yes, Millicent, that would be lovely! Thanks a lot. I can get away a little earlier, if you wish. About three, let's say."

It was arranged. Millicent was there promptly and Julie saw that she was dressed in a denim slacks suit underneath her leopard coat. The incongruity of the combination startled her a bit, but by now she realized that Jeff's sister-in-law was an individualist.

"Hope you like chow mein," said Millicent as she drove the car into the main highway.

"Oh, I do. It's one of my pet dishes. Mother won't make it very often, for she says it doesn't agree with Dad, but when I'm cook and the kids—Carol and Alex and I—are alone, we always have it."

"You must have lots of fun. I was an only child," she added. "You could put an 'I' on only! Mother used to import kids to play with me, but it isn't the same at all. Makes young'uns terribly self-centered, I think. They need to divide things with someone. I'm going to have at least three."

Julie stole a quick glance at her. Millicent looked happy and she knew that she was excited about the house. They turned into the drive which wound up through the gnarled old apple trees, now bare in the November winds. Two men were working on the grounds, raking and burning leaves.

"We're trying to get things in shape. After we get the painting done, we may move right into it. Adam gets tired of small apartments, and I don't blame him. His mother didn't want us to buy the place. But we managed to get it all settled before she could interfere."

Julie hoped she didn't show her astonishment at Millicent's frank words. Jeff must have told his brother that he had asked Julie to marry him. Otherwise she couldn't imagine his wife confiding in her. She said, "Oh, I don't believe Mrs. Douglas could know what real joy a place like this would be for a couple. Especially someone who planned on having three children! Can't you just see 'em swarming up the trees and fishing in that little creek? I remember Alex used to."

to come down here with some of the high school kids and catch trout."

"You should marry Jeff and have some kids of your own. You know he's madly in love with you. Don't put it off, Julie. You'll find opposition, but don't let it get you down. Grab Jeff quick! There are half a dozen girls who envy you already."

"Really!" Julie was startled. "He never mentioned anyone else."

"Oh, Julie, life can be such a mess. I might as well tell you, Adam and I were about to divorce over this fish plant business. I hated the thought of coming back to Bayport to live. Isn't that awful? But I think it's going to work out. Jeff and Adam brought me out here one evening to look at this place. The vine maples were scarlet, and the fall flowers were blooming. The tenant farmer who looks after the place had a roaring fire in the fireplace. Gosh! I must fall in love with the house. And from that moment on you couldn't have dragged me away. When or if I get bored, I can always go back to Portland for a weekend."

They were sitting in the car in the drive. Julie felt shaken with the information that Millicent had dropped to her.

"It's sweet of you to tell me. I hope that you and Adam will be very happy here."

"If I get off the track, remind me of all this, won't you?" Millicent, not waiting for her answer, started to get out of the car. "Oh, look, Julie! That bed of bronze chrysanthemums! Wouldn't a florist be jealous?"

Julie, going over the house with her, wondered about the fragile quality of the happiness which Millicent possessed. Was her marriage on such an unstable balance that she had to reassure herself every few weeks? What, exactly, was wrong with it?

They went over the downstairs, then upstairs to see the sunny bedrooms which faced the bay.

"Here's a room for the nursery," said Millicent. "We are expecting Adam Junior next June."

"How nice!" Julie exclaimed. She'd not dreamed their secret.

"I'm giving Mother Douglas another chance. Last spring I told Adam I'd never, never enter that house again!"

Julie wished Millicent had not gone into details.

"I'm sure Mrs. Douglas has had people rush for a seat in the bus it's hard to work up 'a formula' for the fellow who didn't get it. He says it's a good idea, but so is perpetual motion."

I was on my way to becoming a real no-good, until they sent me to the Memorial Settlement House, where a man named Tony was wise to the ways of boys of the streets and on the right road, talked some sense into him.

"Honesty and self-respect," Tony said. "After that, I was being straightened out. When I was 12, I was a fair Miss Leigh up in Connecticut and when I got out."

FOR ACTING after he was injured in the legs by a chain while loading torpedoes aboard the submarine Golden Boy, the Tony that brought Bill Holden to movie stardom starred Frances Farmer in it? when a movie was made at Greenwich Village's Cherry Lane theater. Now they've got big things planned for him. After three years on the gold coast, he went into the army and got a big bang out of seeing them fair Miss Leigh up in Connecticut and when I got out."

He is Bruckner boulevard. I got an aunt when I went to Hollywood, she was the last of her porch in a rocking chair. "Don't move," he said to her.

He was in a procession at her house and looked up—sitting on the porch in a rocking chair. "Identical—but Tony has a very devoted wife," he said to her.

Draw your own conclusions.

IT WAS DIFFERENT THEN

SOME years ago, in a delightful era of nostalgic memory, the Fourth of July opened and closed with a bang. And what a bang it was, with all young America signing its own Declaration of Independence with a rousing, exuberant outburst of noisemaking.

The explosion of firecrackers and cannon crackers started with the first flush of dawn, after a trial run the night before, and continued throughout the day and into the night when the celebrators refueled their enthusiasm with flare bombs and roman candles. Waving flags and parades helped kindle the demonstration of patriotism.

The Fourth, in those days, also was a great occasion for family picnics and reunions in shaded groves along the roadside. Bring baskets well filled, was the supplication, and the women folk answered by feverishly striving to outdo each other in laying the best spread of home-cooked delicacies.

Some arrived in wagons or surreys, a few in the sputtering, rickety automobiles of early make. Roughly-hewn tables and benches were used, or tablecloths were stretched on the ground, for the feasting.

Then came the games and contests for all ages, followed by the program with a preacher or lawyer making a speech and

These Days

I saw this advertisement in Radio Daily-Television Daily, a trade paper:

"1. The Radio Writers Guild, a democratic organization open to all who write or wish to write for radio and television, has this primary function under its constitution—to assure each of its members equality of professional opportunity.

"2. Today, Radio Writers Guild members are being deprived of the chance to earn a living in their chosen field by such discriminatory devices as the blacklist, the loyalty questionnaire and the morals clause, each of which in its insidious way strikes at the basic economic welfare of our guild and of its members.

"3. Deploring such practices, which are notoriously anti-union, the Radio Writers Guild promises active resistance to them. In the future as in the past we will not judge our members, we will defend them."

The issue raised here is the same as academic freedom, which has come to be accepted as something sacrosanct in our colleges and universities. The assumption is that if a man gets a certain type of job, he must be assured of the right to do or say anything that comes into his head, wise or foolish, moral or immoral, patriotic or treasonable.

The Radio Writers Guild cannot guarantee equality of opportunity for writers because it cannot guarantee equality of ability, intelligence, imagination or wisdom. It cannot hope to establish the same opportunities, equal or identical, nor even comparable opportunities for a Somerset Maugham and a Joe Blow.

Equality of opportunity is one of the most telling assets of the life of the individual American. But that does not mean that because a man desires to write, his judgment is final as to the worth of his writings.

The equality of opportunity lies in the opportunity to study, to work, to form the pattern of one's own life with attendant risks and responsibilities. It does not guarantee the acceptance of the output.

The guild objects to the blacklist. So do I. It is an indecent and unAmerican device because every man is entitled to know why he is rejected, particularly if he has had an

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
TWO WEEKS later Millicent called while Julie was at the studio. "I'll pick you up at four, if you can get away, and then we'll have supper at our apartment later with the boys. Would you like that?"

"Oh, yes, Millicent, that would be lovely! Thanks a lot. I can get away a little earlier, if you wish. About three, let's say."

It was arranged. Millicent was there promptly and Julie saw that she was dressed in a denim slacks suit underneath her leopard coat. The incongruity of the combination startled her a bit, but by now she realized that Jeff's sister-in-law was an individualist.

"Hope you like chow mein," said Millicent as she drove the car into the main highway.

"Oh, I do. It's one of my pet dishes. Mother won't make it very often, for she says it doesn't agree with Dad, but when I'm cook and the kids—Carol and Alex and I—are alone, we always have it."

"You must have lots of fun. I was an only child," she added. "You could put an 'I' on only! Mother used to import kids to play with me, but it isn't the same at all. Makes young'uns terribly self-centered, I think. They need to divide things with someone. I'm going to have at least three."

Julie stole a quick glance at her. Millicent looked happy and she knew that she was excited about the house. They turned into the drive which wound up through the gnarled old apple trees, now bare in the November winds. Two men were working on the grounds, raking and burning leaves.

"We're trying to get things in shape. After we get the painting done, we may move right into it. Adam gets tired of small apartments, and I don't blame him. His mother didn't want us to buy the place. But we managed to get it all settled before she could interfere."

Julie hoped she didn't show her astonishment at Millicent's frank words. Jeff must have told his brother that he had asked Julie to marry him. Otherwise she couldn't imagine his wife confiding in her. She said, "Oh, I don't believe Mrs. Douglas could know what real joy a place like this would be for a couple. Especially someone who planned on having three children! Can't you just see 'em swarming under the trees and fishing in that little creek? I remember Alex used

"You should marry Jeff and have some kids of your own. You know he's madly in love with you. Don't put it off, Julie. You'll find opposition, but don't let it get you down. Grab Jeff quick! There are half a dozen girls who envy you already."

"Really!" Julie was startled. "He never mentioned anyone else."

"Oh, Julie, life can be such a mess. I might as well tell you, Adam and I were about to divorce over this fish plant business. I hated the thought of coming back to Bayport to live. Isn't that awful? But I think it's going to work out. Jeff and Adam brought me out here one evening to look at this place. The vine maples were scarlet, and the fall flowers were blooming. The tenant farmer who looks after the place had a roaring fire in the fireplace. Gosh! I just fell in love with the house. And from that moment you couldn't have dragged me away. When or if I get bored, I can always go back to Portland for a weekend."

They were sitting in the car in the drive. Julie felt shaken with the information that Millicent had dropped to her.

"It's sweet of you to tell me. I hope that you and Adam will be very happy here."

"If I get off the track, remind me of all this, won't you?" Millicent, not waiting for her answer, started to get out of the car. "Oh, look, Julie! That bed of bronze chrysanthemums! Wouldn't a florist be jealous?"

Julie, going over the house with her, wondered about the fragile quality of the happiness which Millicent possessed. Was her marriage on such an unstable balance that she had to reassure herself every few weeks? What, exactly, was wrong with it?

They went over the downstairs, then upstairs to see the sunny bedrooms which faced the bay. "Here's a room for the nursery," said Millicent. "We are expecting Adam Junior next June."

"How nice!" Julie exclaimed. She'd not dreamed their secret. "I'm giving Mother Douglas another chance. Last spring I told Adam I'd never, never enter that house again!"

Julie wished Millicent had not gone into details.

"I'm sure Mrs. Douglas has had a very trying period since the death of her husband. It must be very difficult to make one's adjustment after living with a person so many years."

Millicent paused in the hall and faced Julie, smiling. "You're perfectly right! It was crude of me, and silly, too, to talk of family troubles. Anyway, I hope you'll forgive me?"

"Oh, yes, of course!" Julie said quickly. "Let's forget it. We younger people have so much to be thankful for we can afford to be generous."

"Right you are." Millicent spread out colorful chintz and other drapery samples. She got out a color chart and then said, "If you'll go with me some Saturday, we'll pick the wallpaper."

"I'm thrilled over your trusting me to be so important a project. It will be fun."

The girls were still brooding over colors and charts when they heard a loud honking in the drive. Millicent hurried to the windows. "It's Adam and Jeff!" She called down, "Up here, fellows!"

"We thought you'd been kidnapped!" shouted her husband. "We're hungry!"

"Come on up!" "It's almost dark," objected Adam. "How about going home so you can come back sometime?" He added, "Jeff's famished!"

"Very well, my lord! Be down in a sec."

She came back to the table where Julie was already folding scraps of samples. "Still interested in helping me?"

"Oh, yes!" said Julie. "I'll be living out here, practically."

"Better marry Jeff, and buy that house next door. I'd love you for a quick hug."

Julie's cheeks glowed. "Maybe I will!" she said in a low voice. Jeff and Adam were coming to meet them as they left the house. "My wife been working you to the bone?" asked Adam.

Julie laughed. "It's been fun. I'm dying to get into production on the drapes and slip-covers."

Jeff squeezed her hands. "Save some of that energy for your own decorating problems," he whispered. He pulled her behind a clump of laurel and kissed her soundly.

"Will you marry me?" he said. "Of course, Jeff," she laughed. (To Be Continued)

Michigan Cyclist Wins Title

1,500 Fans See Hillclimb Here

A Michigan motorcyclist took top honors during a hillclimb contest Sunday afternoon in Devlin's Backbone, just east of Circleville.

About 1,500 spectators were on hand for the rugged hillclimb event, won by Larry Suttler of Muskegon Heights, Mich.

Only a dozen of the professional riders tried their skill at the hill during the afternoon's program. Three suffered minor hurts in the contests and one of the cycles caught fire.

Worst injury suffered during the rugged hillclimb test was a burst blood vessel in the foot of one of the riders, who had caught the foot in the frame of his cycle as he attempted to make the top.

In one of the cycles, the car-purport caught fire, but was quickly extinguished.

In 54 cracks at the hill during the afternoon, only 20 were successful.

BEST TIME for the day was turned in by "B" class rider Jan Paegran of Columbus, who ripped up the hill in 3.3 seconds.

Willard Bryan of Columbus, who won the first hillclimb event held here in 1948 with a time of 2.94 sec., lost out in the finals of Sunday's event although winning his "A" class title.

In the first of Sunday's events, a "B" (45 cu. in.) contest, only four of the six entries made the top of the hill. The test was won by Paul Mukoich of Detroit.

Following was the "A" (74 cu.

Snead Favored In PGA Finals

OAKMONT, Pa., July 2—Two veterans, a reformed tennis champion and golf's human cash register, Sam Snead, assembled today in the semifinals of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament at Oakmont Country club.

Needless to say, the wagering was heavily on Snead's broad shoulders as the $45,000 tourney neared the showdown stage with Slammin' Sam hot on the trail of his third PGA title.

Snead met Charles Bassler of Catonsville, Md., handsome 29-year-old ex-Marine, in one 36-hole semifinal. The other pitted former Amateur Tennis King Ellsworth Vines against Walter Burkemo of Detroit, 32-year-old twice-wounded infantryman.

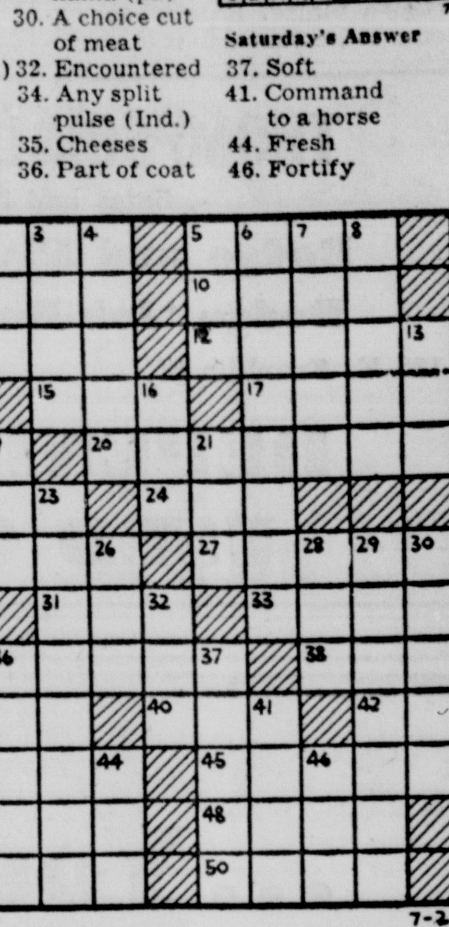

In the first of Sunday's events, a "B" (45 cu. in.) contest, only four of the six entries made the top of the hill. The test was won by Paul Mukoich of Detroit.

Following was the "A" (74 cu.

Ashville '9' Scores 11-2 Win Over West Jeff

Ashville amateur baseballers Sunday tallied an 11-2 victory over West Jefferson hardballers in Ashville Community Park.

Sunday's win gave the Ashville aggregation a tie for first place in the Columbus Sunday Afternoon League and ended the first round of play in the league.

Ashville opened the encounter against West Jefferson with a pair of runs in the first frame and a single in the second for a 3-0 advantage.

The visiting Jeff team retaliated in the fourth inning with a brace of tallies to whittle the lead down to 3-2, although the Ashville sluggers went wild in the fifth to register eight runs and cinch the victory by the 11-2 count.

Jack Hix was winning moundsman for the Ashville team in the test, whiffing 14 of the Jeff batters, walking two and allowing seven hits.

BOB GLICK paced the Ashville crew in the batting department, rapping out a double and triple in four tries.

The Ashvillers are slated to begin second round operations next Sunday against Atkinson-Dauksch of Columbus at Columbus Central high school. Line score of Sunday's win follows:
West Jeff. 000 200 000—2 7 7
Ashville 210 080 000—11 7 4

Michigan Cyclist Wins Title

1,500 Fans See Hillclimb Here

A Michigan motorcyclist took top honors during a hillclimb contest Sunday afternoon in Devlin's Backbone, just east of Circleville.

About 1,500 spectators were on hand for the rugged hillclimb event, won by Larry Suttler of Muskegon Heights, Mich.

Only a dozen of the professional riders tried their skill at the hill during the afternoon's program. Three suffered minor hurts in the contests and one of the cycles caught fire.

Worst injury suffered during the rigid hillclimb test was a burst blood vessel in the foot of one of the riders, who had caught the foot in the frame of his cycle as he attempted to mount the top.

In one of the cycles, the carter caught fire, but was quickly extinguished.

In 54 cracks at the hill during the afternoon, only 20 were successful.

BEST TIME for the day was turned in by "B" class rider Jan Paegran of Columbus, who ripped up the hill in 3.3 seconds.

Willard Bryan of Columbus, who won the first hillclimb event held here in 1948 with a time of 2.94 sec., lost out in the finals of Sunday's event although winning his "A" class title.

In the first of Sunday's events, a "B" (45 cu. in.) contest, only four of the six entries made the top of the hill. The test was won by Paul Muckel of Detroit.

Following was the "A" (74 cu.

Local Riflemen Win 2nd Place In CORL Shoot

Pickaway County Rifle and Pistol Club marksmen ranked in second place Sunday during a Central Ohio Rifle League match held at the Circleville range.

Circleville shooters scored a total of 3,169 during the Sunday test, ranking next to the first place Zanesville team which won the match with a total of 3,177.

Columbus shooters ranked third in the match with a total of 3,169, while Chillicothe held the cellar position with 3,165.

Next match for the local shooters will be held July 15 in Zanesville. Scores tallied by the local riflemen in Sunday's shoot are as follows:

Noecker	396	397	793
D. Campbell	393	396	789

Snead Favored In PGA Finals

OAKMONT, Pa., July 2—Two veterans, a reformed tennis champion and golf's human cash register, Sam Snead, assembled today in the semifinals of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament at Oakmont Country club.

Needless to say, the wagering was heavily on Snead's lead shoulders as the $45,000 tourney neared the showdown stage with Slammin' Sam hot on the trail of his third PGA title.

Snead met Charles Bassler of Catonsville, Md., handsome 29-year-old ex-Marine, in one 36-hole semifinal. The other pitted former Amateur Tennis King Ellsworth Vines against Walter Burkemo of Detroit, 32-year-old twice-wounded infantryman.

In the "B" event, which was won by Bryan with a time of 3.32 sec.

In the "B" qualifier, third event of the day, Paegran won with his 3.3 sec. ride, while Suttler was second with 3.35 sec.

Suttler took over in the "expert" contest to conclude the hillclimb, winning over the larger bikes with a time of 3.37 sec.

Paul Eitel, president of Circleville Gypsy Roamers MC Club, said his organization hopes to hold another event here next year if the hill is still available.

The hill used in Sunday's cycle test is a part of the Pickaway County Memorial Lake and Park and will be a part of the proposed lake basin when final adjustments have been made to the earth-filled dam at the headwaters of Hargus Creek.

New Postal Money Order System Starts

Any Bank Will Cash Check Now

Latest Style Comes In Card Form

Patrons of Circleville Postoffice Monday found a new more convenient money order available.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's postoffices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past.

The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific postoffices has been eliminated. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a postoffice in another city an additional fee was charged.

THE NEW SYSTEM makes available to the Postoffice Department the most advanced electronic business machines. One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the modern proof machine in widespread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the Electronic Statistical Machine, workhorse of the 1950 Census tabulation.

Postal officials described the inauguration of the new money order system as the largest single accounting change ever made in postal history.

They said the development came after exhaustive study by the Postoffice Department, General Accounting Office, Treasury Department and Federal Reserve Board.

The department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

Last year more than 300 million money orders, totaling upward to $5 billion were issued and paid by the Postoffice Department.

A Circleville man is serving in West Korea with one of the famous Army combat units fighting Chinese Communists.

Private First Class Wilfred G. Rooker, son of Mrs. Nellie Rooker of 611 South Washington street, is in the 1st Cavalry Division's 70th Tank Battalion.

Rooker's armored outfit is the force that led three of the Korean War's most historic drives: 1. The blitzkrieg offensive northward from Taegu to Osan in September.

2. The first crossing of the 38th Parallel in October, and

3. The entry of the North Korean capital city of Pyongyang in the same month.

Although the 36-ton tanks of Rooker's battalion were manufactured for World War II use, clear Federal Reserve banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional postoffices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and the better to serve the general public, spokesmen declared.
